“The fastest way to be very rich is to invest in the right asset”. That’s one of Dr. Gema Goeyardi MM, MH, CAT, CFTe, MFTA, CWM, CSA, CTA, CFI, CFII, MEII, IGI’s statements in his motivational Instagram post. Becoming the CEO and Founder of Astronacci, No. 1 Master of Time Trading, FAA and DGCA Flight Instructor & Citation V Captain, he started his success story with the right way – following his passion. “I started my business with passion. If we love what we do, we will have a long time vision for it,” said him.

From his love and passion in stock market, Dr. Gema stepped into the field with high motivation and dream to put Indonesia in global map of trading through his Astronacci method – a financial method that combines financial astrology and Fibonacci that could predict the index and price in the stock market. Based on the information on Astronacci.com, the method produced four-dimensional approach that consists of Macro Economy Analysis, Fundamental Analysis, Technical Analysis and Time Forecast.

After chosen as one of the influential figures in our business issue back in June, now he’s once again been chosen as one of the successful people under 40 in HighEnd’s The Alpha Under 40. Although he has a lot of success in his hands, Dr. Gema never stops innovating. He is working on a new tradepreneur project by encouraging people to become a great entrepreneur with less or zero capital. “I’m supporting Indonesian people to become successful entrepreneurs. Since I’ve got my Doctoral degree in Astronacci back in August 16, 2021, it becomes my responsibility to elevate economic and social level in this country,” said Dr. Gema.

To reach that level, the challenge that he had to defeat is Indonesians’ inability in reading literature. “I had to walk the talk and share my success to public through live trading, live analysis and being featured in media like television and magazines. I have to show myself as a symbol of successful tradepreneur and everyone can reach that point too,” he explained. Another challenge is a hoax that encourages people to find an instant way to reach success. “This is the real challenge for us as an educator. We must inform people that there is no such things as instant success.”

As a leader, Dr. Gema applied the military style where he became the Alpha leader who is ready to back up his team when trouble occurs. “I always act tough to my staff, yet, I am always ready to back them up when we face troubles since that’s what leaders do,” he added. For the tradepreneur, good leadership is where the leader could act strict in directing his team while preparing their contingency plans. In his words, he loved to be the CEO – Chief Everything Officer – where he must be able to do both jobs of the leader and staff.

In his point of view, success is when his words and perspective are applied by others and he is able to create successful people under his guidance. The other successful person that inspires Dr. Gema is his own father – the figure that able to built both himself and the business from zero to hero. “My dad is my biggest inspiration. My success is the ultimate gift from God and it won’t be nothing without the support from family, Astronacci Warriors and staff that give me opportunities to build this business,” he concluded.
